TELEGRAPHIC

(Evening Despatches to the Times)

From New Orleans—The Seige of Port Hudson—Heavy Fighting Going On—Splendid Conduct of a Negro Regiment—Heavy Movement of Virginia Rebels Southward—Splendid Cavalry Fight at Franklin, Tenn.—From the Rappahannock—Retreat of Lee's Forces—Hooker's Troops in Possession of Fredericksburg.

NEW YORK, 6th.

The steamer Morning Star, from New Orleans 29th and Havana 31st of May, arrived early this morning.

In the Department of the Gulf the whole interest in military affairs centred in Port Hudson, which was completely invested by the government forces. General Banks commanded in person a force supposed to be sufficient for its reduction. The enemy's strength within their defences is estimated at from 10,000 to 12,000.

Fighting was still going on at the date of the departure of the Morning Star. Brig. Gen Sherman had arrived at New Orleans on the night of the 29th, severely wounded, but not dangerously.

Col Daniels' 2d La. negro regiment distinguished itself, specially in charging on the enemy's siege guns, losing [illegible] killed and wounded over 600.

General Weitzel had captured a portion of the line of defences, and held one of their heaviest batteries.

The following is from the Era of the 29th—

"All eyes in this department are now turned towards Port Hudson. Our information from that point is not very full, but we are in possession of enough to assure our readers that there is every reason to take a cheerful and hopeful view of events. We have no hesitation in saying that the result of the fighting thus far has been decidedly favorable to our arms."

NEW YORK, 6th.

The Times' Washington despatch says the enemy's movement had taken a positively defined shape in the last 24 hours. Their columns are in motion in a southwesterly direction towards Gordonsville. Constant balloon ascensions yesterday discovered heavy clouds of dust occasioned by the marching of continuous bodies of troops on the Gordonsville road, as well as a disappearance of many of the camps heretofore in sight and the doubling of their pickets along the Rappahannock.

NEW YORK, 6th.

The Herald's New Orleans correspondent writing on the 29th, gives some particulars of the attack on Port Hudson.

The battle was commenced on the 27th, by land and water. The fight was desperate all day and was continued on the 28th. General Weitzel after long and close fighting, finally captured the heavy six-gun battery which sunk the Mississippi, and has turned them on the rebels.

On the enemy's right, General Sherman charged and carried the works by storm, but the enemy massed his troops and our men had to fall back.

In this charge the 2d Louisiana negro regiment fought like demons and lost 600 out of 900 men.

General Sherman was seriously wounded in the leg. Col. Clark and Col. Cowles were killed. Col Smith was badly wounded. The 6th Mich. and 128th N. Y. regiments each lost half their men.

Our center attack was made by General Augur and Grover, and the enemy were driven into his main works.

The Tribune's New Orleans correspondent states that the propeller Ida arrived here last evening from Baton Rouge. Generals Sherman and Dow were brought down on stretchers. The body of Col. Cowles was on board.

I learn at 2 a m yesterday, heavy cannonading could be heard at Port Hudson. Our loss is heavy. It is reported to be at least 4000.

Gen Banks moved from point to point along the lines with perfect coolness. His quick eye would detect a laggard movement at an unprotected position and an aid would be despatched with instructions. The most perfect confidence was felt that the rebel stronghold would succumb to the Union force.

CHICAGO, 5th.

A special from Chickasaw Bayou, dated June 1st, says there is no important change to report. Gen. Logan has planted heavy siege guns within 100 yards of the rebel works, and has constructed a covered pathway from behind a high hill, through which his gunners pass to and fro with little danger.

A bearer of despatches from General Pemberton to General Johnston left the rebel lines on Thursday last, and came directly to General Grant's headquarters and communicated their contents to Gen Grant.

Port Hudson dates are to the 29th of May—General Banks had entirely invested the place, resting the two wings of his army on the river. Our gunboats were bombarding the rebel fortifications from the river, while General Banks was thundering with his artillery in the rear of the rebels.

NASHVILLE, 6th—5 P. M.

We have had a splendid cavalry fight, near Franklin, yesterday and today, resulting in whipping the enemy severely. We lost two Colonels badly wounded.

BALTIMORE, 6th.

Fernando Wood passed through this city this morning on his return from his visit to Washington. He received a hot, very flattering reception from some New York soldiers who were on guard at the Camden street depot, who loudly denounced him, using such epithets as "copperhead" and "traitor," and taking particular pains to inform him that they were from New York.

CHICAGO, 6th.

A large and interesting meeting was held tonight at Bryan Hall, under the auspices of the National Young Men's Christian Association. Eloquent addresses were made by Gov. A Stuart, Bishop Simpson and others in behalf of U. S. Christian Mission. A generous contribution was received to further the object of the meeting.

NEW YORK, 6th.

The Post's special Washington despatch says: "A boat from below has just arrived here with the important information that the rebels have evacuated Fredericksburg. The movement of Lee's army, which has given rise to so many conflicting reports during the past week, is explained by the removal of his entire force from the line of the Rappahannock, which is now in possession of General Hooker. Our forces immediately crossed the river and occupied the town, over which the stars and stripes are now flying. As yet we have no indication of the direction which Lee has taken.

NEW YORK, 6th.

A Washington correspondent of an evening paper says the War Department is in immediate communication with General Grant direct to Memphis. The wires are working from that city right into the War Department, and thence by despatch boat to General Grant's headquarters. His despatches for several days are of a most gratifying nature, though their details would be improper for publication. He fears nothing from any reinforcements which may be sent to his rear.

CINCINNATI, 6th.

Advices from Vicksburg to June 2d contain no particular news.

General Grant is able to press the siege and take care of Johnston, who is still posted at Jackson. His reported march on Memphis is not confirmed.

Our siege guns are close up to the enemy's works, and playing vigorously on them and the town.

On the 1st instant the rebels shot 800 horses on the river bank, being unable to feed them.

General Blair is up the Yazoo. Important news is expected from him.

WATCHES BY MACHINERY. "The first impression, upon hearing that a watch is made by machinery, is, that it must be rather coarse and clumsy. No machine so cunning as the human hand, we are fond of saying. But, if you will look at this gauge, for instance, and then at any of these dainty and delicate machines upon the benches, miniature lathes of steel, and contrivances which combine the skill of innumerable exquisite fingers upon single points, you will feel at once that, when the machinery itself is so almost poetic and sensitive the result of its work must be correspondingly perfect."

'My friend—not the watch, but the watchmaker—said quietly, 'By your leave, and, pulling a single hair from my head touched it to a hue gauge, which indicated exactly the thickness of the hair. It was a test of the twenty-five hundredth part of an inch. But there are also gauges graduated to the ten thousandth part of an inch. Here is a workman making screws. Can you just see them? That hardly visible point exuding from the almost imperceptible hole is one of them. A hundred and fifty thousand of them make a pound. The wire costs a dollar; the screws are worth nine hundred and fifty dollars. The magic touch of the machine makes that wire nine hundred and fifty times more valuable. The operator sets them in regular rows upon a thin plate. When the plate is full it is passed to another machine, which cuts the little groove upon the top of each, and of course exactly in the same spot. Every one of those hundred and fifty thousand screws in every pound is accurately the same as every other, and any and all of them, in this pound or any pound, say one of the millions or ten millions of this size, will fit precisely every hole made for this size screw in every plate of every watch made in the factory. They are kept in little glass phials, like those in which the homoeopathic doctors keep their pellets.'

'The fineness and variety of the machinery are so amazing, so beautiful—there is such an exquisite combination of form and movement, such sensitive teeth and fingers, and wheels, and points of steel—such fairy knives of sapphire, with which King Oberon First might have been beheaded had he insisted upon levying dew-taxes upon primroses without the authority of his elves—such smooth cylinders, and flying points so rapidly revolving that they seem perfectly still—such dainty oscillations of parts with the air of intelligent consciousness of movement, that a machinery so extensive in details, so complex, so harmonious, at length entirely magnetizes you with wonder and delight, and you are firmly persuaded that you behold the magnified part of a huge brain in the very act of thinking out watches.'—Atlantic Monthly.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from the headquarters of the cavalry corps of the army of the Potomac, characterizes the recent raid of the 8th Illinois cavalry 'thro' that section of debatable ground lying between the Rappahannock and Potomac, below Fredericksburg, as the most successful yet made by one regiment. Every nook along the banks of the two rivers was explored for smugglers' boats and goods, which, when found, were destroyed. One hundred sloops, yawls, ferry-boats, &c., were burned with all their contents, consisting of salt, oil, whiskey, leather, stationery, wool-cards, percussion caps, boots, shoes, clothing, and many other articles of especial value to the rebels. About 20,000 pounds of bacon and a large quantity of flour was also destroyed. At Lee's Ferry, it was ascertained that the ferry boat used for smuggling purposes was on the southern bank of the Rappahannock, and it was especially desirable that it should be destroyed. Accordingly, a few of the Illinois men were dressed in rebel uniform, and, escorting a few of their companions as Union prisoners, succeeded in enticing the boat across, whereupon they made prisoners the guard and destroyed the boat. On returning the negroes belonging to the plantations along the line of march joined the emancipation column, coming in in squads of from five to twenty, until there were accumulated 810 men, women and children of the contraband persuasion.

A letter to the Chicago Journal, dated "Rear of Vicksburg, May 28," says:

Vicksburg is defended in the rear by works fifteen feet in height, with ditches ten feet deep—the works standing on steep hillsides, every approach protected by rifle pits and covered by artillery. It cannot be taken by assault, but will be taken. It is a doomed city.

This morning a mine under one of the forts in front of Sherman's corps was blown up, and the site is now in our possession.

Our loss, so far, is about five thousand killed and wounded, perhaps less. The enemy's loss, is not less than fifteen thousand. Seven thousand prisoners are in our hands, and ninety-two pieces of artillery. The quantity of small arms, ordnance, camp and garrison equipage that has fallen into our hands is very large.

This is the total of our army's work: In sixteen days it has marched one hundred and sixty miles, fought five battles, taken the capital of Mississippi, destroyed all communication with the rebel army at Tullahoma, captured seven thousand prisoners, ninety-two pieces of artillery, eight thousand stand of small arms, seven miles of heavy fortifications on the rebel right, completely invested the city in the rear, and opened for us a new and perfect line of supplies. During these sixteen days the army had but four days' rations from the depots of supplies.

The army is in excellent health and confident of success.

Success of the Colored Regiments.

HEADQUARTERS Department of the South, Port Royal, S C., May 4, 1863.

To His Excellency the Governor of Massachusetts, Boston, Mass.:

* * * * * *

I am happy to be able to announce to you my complete and eminent satisfaction with the results of the organization of negro regiments in this Department. In the field, so far as tried, they have proved brave, active, enduring and energetic, frequently outrunning by their zeal and familiarity with the Southern country, the restrictions deemed prudent by certain of their officers. They have never disgraced their uniform by pillage or cruelty, but have so conducted themselves, upon the whole, that even our enemies, though more anxious to find fault with these than with any other portion of our troops, have not yet been able to allege against them a single violation of the rules of civilized warfare.

These regiments are hardy, generous, temperate, patient, strictly obedient, possessing great natural aptitude for arms, and deeply imbued with that religious sentiment—call it fanaticism, such as like—which made the soldiers of Cromwell invincible. They believe that now is the time appointed by God for their deliverance; and under the heroic incitement of this faith, I believe them capable of showing a courage and persistency of purpose which must in the end extort both victory and admiration.

In this connection, I am also most happy to announce to you that the prejudices of certain of our white soldiers and officers against these indispensable allies are rapidly softening or fading out; and that we have now opening before us in this Department which was the first in the present war to inaugurate the experiment of employing colored troops, large opportunities of putting them to a distinguished and profitable use.

With a brigade of liberated slaves already in the field, a few more regiments of intelligent colored men from the North would soon place this force in a condition to make extensive incursions upon the main land, through the most densely populated slave regions; and from expeditions of this character, I have no doubt the most beneficial results would arise.

I have the honor to be, Governor, very respectfully, your most obedient servant,

D HUNTER,

Major General Commanding

A letter from Folly Island, May 28th, in the Hartford Times, says:

We are within sight of Charleston, talk daily with their pickets, and secesh excursion parties of ladies and gentlemen come down on to Morris Island and look over toward us as if we were curiosities.

We are putting siege guns in position and before many days will try what virtue there is in the one hundred pound Parrott guns. The enemy are also very busy.

We have got a look-out built, from the top of which we can look down into their works and count their guns. James Island, where the fight was last June, they have got strongly fortified, and all along Stono river as far as we can see.

In a small town on the Schuylkill river, there is a church in which the singing had "run completely down."

It had been led for many years by one of the deacons, whose voice and musical powers had been failing.

One evening the clergyman gave out the hymn, which was in metrical measure, rather harder than usual, and the deacon led off. Upon its conclusion the minister arose and said:

"Brother B—— will please repeat the hymn as I cannot conscientiously pray after such singing!"

The deacon very composedly pitched it to another tune, with a manifest improvement, upon the first effort, and the clergyman proceeded with his prayer. Having finished, he took up a book to give a second hymn, when he was interrupted by the deacon gravely getting up and saying in a voice audible to the whole congregation:

"Will Mr. —— please make another prayer? It will be impossible for me to sing after such praying as that!"

THE CHICAGO TIMES. The following, it is said is the infamous article in the Chicago Times which led to its suppression. It appeared in its Washington correspondence, under date of May 27th:

No one who sees Mr Lincoln can fail to be struck with his altered appearance as compared with his looks of two years ago. He looks ten years older, and the expression of his face is haggard and care-worn in the extreme. His eye is restless, and is constantly wandering; at most times with a vacant expression; at others in a manner indicative of positive terror. He has exactly the demeanor of a man whose rest is broken by remorse, and to whose pillow tranquil sleep is a stranger. God knows he has done enough to cause him a lifetime of remorse. But he has been made the victim of the men who, knowing the weakness and irresolution of his character, placed him where he is in order that they might guide and direct his actions, and make him the instrument to work their will.

He is, and has been for months, nothing more than the servant of Ben Wade, Chandler, Sumner, and Horace Greeley. He realizes the fact now, and strives to emancipate himself from their malign influence, but in vain. They compelled him to issue his emancipation proclamation; to dismiss General McClellan, Sumner, Porter and Franklin from the army, to appoint the butcher of Fredericksburg to supplant McClellan; to place the gallant Army of the Potomac under the lead of the boasting Hooker—They have compelled him to keep Hooker in command of that army when the whole country knows that by doing so its efficiency is entirely destroyed. And they instigated the infamous proceedings against Mr Vallandigham and compelled the President to approve them and sustain Burnside. Such are the men who control the destinies of this once free republic.

[And such are the infamous slanders and lies of the copperhead journals, by which they are striving to produce civil war in the north.]

TALES AND SKETCHES. By Hugh Miller. Edited by Mrs Miller. Boston: Gould & Lincoln. 1863.

In this volume are eight or ten stories and sketches written by the celebrated Scotch Geologist during the first years of his married life, and in the intervals of relaxation from severe mercantile labor. They are very interesting in themselves, and serve to show something of the inner life of the distinguished author during the period of his earlier manhood.

It is thought by some that Grant does not need much more reinforcement at present. The halting of General Banks to besiege Port Hudson, instead of proceeding on Vicksburg, is a favorable indication. At the last accounts, Gen. Grant was progressing well enough in his new programme of regular approaches against the rebel works. It is not probable that he can find work for more than half of his men in the intrenchments. With these, aided by the destructive and demoralizing fire incessantly kept up by Admiral Porter's fleet, he can sufficiently over-match the defensive efforts of the rebels, to insure the capture of the place in due season.—The other half is numerically superior to any force which Johnston has yet succeeded in gathering, and will have the advantage of choosing strong and well fortified positions in a region peculiarly adapted for such. The only ground of anxiety is the known determination of the rebels to hold their grasp on the Mississippi, which may inspire them to throw forward masses of troops beyond the calculation of our officers. But we believe that the Government is fully awake to the exigency, and having the power to secure success, will certainly and promptly wield it.

It is stated that Admiral Du Pont has been relieved in compliance with his own request.—He has been in uninterrupted service on the Atlantic coast for nearly two years, and is greatly in need of a brief rest from labors which have proved most exhausting.

The Western river men talk about Vicksburg in this fashion: "You see, they look at their hands, and Grant orders them up. Then Mr. Pemberton sees he can't make anything, and offers to give him a point. Old U. S. is four already and that would carry him out, but they are playing laps and slams, so he can't see, it but goes in for a march, and one on the next game."

The estate of the Carrolls of Carrollton is in course of being settled up. One hundred and forty slaves belonging to it have run away, and the remaining one hundred and sixty have been valued at $5 per head. A leading Maryland slaveholder says he would not give $500 for the lot. The slave institution is doomed forever in Maryland.

GIRLS AND THEIR SECRETS. A Pennsylvania girl, who has been serving as a soldier in the Army of the West for 10 months, says she has discovered a great many females among the soldiers, one of whom now is a lieutenant. She has assisted in burying three female soldiers at different times, whose sex was unknown to any but herself.

It is enough to fight Lincoln usurpations now and here; Democrats will take care of the southern usurpers when they can get at them.
—Argus

What we complain of is that you don't try to "get at them," but confine your efforts principally to kicking up a useless row at home. If you would work half as hard to save the government from destruction by the rebels as you do to secure a party triumph in the next Presidential election, you wouldn't find time nor room for your senseless clamour about "the subversion of the liberties of the people by the Republican administration."

A Memphis correspondent of the St Louis Republican, writes under date of May 28th that the capture of Vicksburg is reduced to a certainty, and in three weeks from that date, the place regarded as the stronghold of the Confederacy will have fallen into our hands.

BRIGADIER GENERAL SHEPLEY, Military Governor of Louisiana, has, by proclamation dated 12th ult., declared inoperative the act of the Legislature of that State, approved March 6, 1857, and entitled "An act to prohibit emancipation of slaves," as "never having been adopted or sanction by the military authorities, and as being inconsistent with the principles which control the policy of the government."

A REBEL MAGAZINE. An infamous rebel scoundrel in New York, long known and notorious where anything in the shape of mischief was to be done—a renegade minister—and a miserable pander to the worst of human flesh and blood—the once Reverend C. Chauncey Burr—has recently started a villainous monthly magazine called "The Old Guard," of which he has the impudence to send us a copy for exchange and notice. We shall give it such notice as we think it deserves—and the worst thing we can do for it is to quote from its own columns. We regard the publisher as a vile traitor, who is eager to overthrow a beneficent and free government in order to place the people under the yoke of slavedom. The magazine proposes to be "Devoted to the Principles of 1776 and 1787." How it does that let our readers judge from the following lying article about the progress of the war—an article in which there is not one word of truth from beginning to end—but which is directly designed and intended to excite overt opposition to the government, in its prosecution of the war, and open rebellion and revolution at the north. Can we be greatly surprised that infamous and lying perversions like these with which the copperhead papers and pamphlets teem, should beget a desire on the part of loyal men for some mode of stopping such a tide of mischief and danger to the country? As a proper "notice" of Burr's Magazine, we copy an article entitled:

HOW WE ARE REVENGING SUMTER. The following [lying statement] are the reported casualties of this war from its beginning to January 1st, 1863:

Federals killed,		43,874
"	wounded,	97,022
"	died of disease and wounds,	250,000
"	made prisoners	68,218
Total,		459,874
Confederates killed,		20,893
"	wounded,	59,915
"	died from disease and w'ds,	120,000
"	made prisoners,	22,169
Total,		222,677

They have killed twenty-two thousand eight hundred and seventy-four more of our men than we have of theirs.

They have wounded, not mortally, thirty-nine thousand, four hundred and fourteen more of our men than we have of theirs.

One hundred and fifty thousand more of our men have died of disease and wounds, than of theirs.

They have made prisoners of forty-six thousand more of our men than we of theirs.

Our total casualties are two hundred and thirty-seven thousand, two hundred and ninety-seven more than theirs—that is, our casualties have been fourteen thousand more than as much again as theirs.

This is the way we have "revenged the firing on Fort Sumter."

But this is not all. We have spent almost two thousand millions more of money than they have spent.

We have made two hundred thousand of our women widows.

We have made one million of children fatherless.

We have destroyed the Constitution of our country.

We have brought the ferocious savagery of war into every corner of society.

Instead of being servants of Christ, our ministers are servants of Satan.

We are turning our homes into charnel houses

There is a corpse in every family.

The Angel of death sits in every door.

The devil has removed from Tartarus to Washington.

We pretend that we are punishing the rebels, but they are punishing us.

Selling our souls to the devil and taking Lincoln & Co's promise to pay. We have it in greenbacks and blood.

This is the way we are "revenging Sumter."

[Notice also the following paragraphs:]

DIED IN THE WOOL. An abolition paper praises Daniel S. Dickinson as a "democrat dyed in the wool." Yes, poor devil, he died in the wool, and will go where all niggerheads ought to go.

A remarkable love poem:

You I love my dearest life,
More than preachers love the strife,
More than Lincoln loves to rule,
More than Blair to play the fool,
More than Cameron to rob,
More than Greeley loves a mob,
More than Godwin loves to lie,
More than Seward owns a spy,
More than Sumner loves a nigger,
More than Wells, his beard and figure,
More than Stanton loves a fight,
More than Halleck Mac's spite,
More than Raymond loves himself,
More than Butler, [illegible] pelf,
More than Beecher loves to swear,
More than Tyng to play the bear,
More than Bates to be a dolt,
More than John Van B. to bolt,
More than Forney loves a spree,
More than Brady loves a lie,
More than "patriot" love their price,
More than Generals, cards and dice,
More than Hooker loves the toddy,
More than Opdyke loves the shoddy,
More than Mac' the foe the best,
More than Fremont a retreat,
More than Chase to fool the banks,
More than Hale to cut his pranks,
More than preachers love the strife,
I love you my dear sweet life.

PATTEN, June 5th, 1863

Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde:

I notice in the Democratic papers the following statement: "At a special election in Patten recently the Democrats elected James B. Leslie to a vacancy on the Board of Selectmen. The Republicans made a desperate effort but failed." This would not be worth noticing, but for the false statement made that the Republicans made a desperate effort. The Democrats were out in full force—not so the Republicans—several of them then in the village did not attend the meeting. Many of them in the remote parts of the town had no notice, and no arrangements were made by them to bring in their voters.—The following facts may account in part for the absence of Union voters. At the annual town meeting, J. B. Leslie bid off the taxes of 1863 to collect at five mills on the dollar, and according to usage here we chose him Constable. The call for a the special meeting was addressed to him by the Selectmen. Mr. Leslie instead of posting the notice at the Post Office in the village, as had previously been the invariable custom, posted it at his store, distant from the village, where very few voters except Leslie's friends would be likely to see it. Mr. Leslie certainly did not intend that a "desperate effort" should be made against him. With all his figuring Leslie was elected by one majority only—and that was his own vote.
A VOTER OF PATTEN.

The Chattanooga Rebel of the 27th ult. has been refreshed by a conference with the distinguished exile from Ohio, Clement L. Vallandigham, and cannot repress its exultation. It says: "He was received by Col. J. Stoddard Johnston of Gen. Bragg's staff, and by him conveyed in a carriage to Shelbyville, where comfortable quarters were provided for him.—There was no demonstration, but everywhere he passed those who had heard of his coming greeted him kindly, and with silent tokens of sympathy and respect."

THE CIRCUS IS COMING.—On Wednesday and Thursday, June 17th and 18th, Wheeler's great International Circus will exhibit in our City, at the canal grounds on Summer Street. Educated horses, lady equestriennes, female horse-tamers, gymnasts, vaulters, acrobats, tight-rope performers, India rubber men, &c., &c., are among the attractions. Of course the Circus will draw. Everybody goes to the Circus—that is, approximately speaking. Everybody went to the Circus in ancient times. It was then the building, not the performers, which was called the Circus—and to prove that they were as popular then as now, it is only necessary to state that an old Roman Emperor built one which would contain 500,000 people, and small ones to accommodate only 50,000 to 100,000 each were plenty as churches in our day. The Circus then was slightly different, however, in its entertainments from the Circus of later and less classic times, and was therefore, we suppose, even more attractive than our own. One of the most amiable and pleasant of the amusements, were the combats of slaves with wild beasts and "the slaying of a dozen or two of each of a morning"—(for these entertainments were given in the day time)—and when a more pleasant divertisement than usual was desired, in honor of some great occasion, a few Christian "infidels," men, women, and children, were thrown to the wild beasts. These exhibitions always drew "full houses"—being liked full better than a bull baiting or the slaughter of gladiators. The public taste has changed a little since that time—but even now almost everybody has an inclination to see whatever is to be seen in a Circus—and as we have no doubt the present one will be packed, as usual. The performers are said to be the best of their kind and we don't know but we shall be as much pleased to see Mademoiselle Ellsler dance on the tight rope as we should be to see a Christian devoured or burned.

VICE CONSUL OF PORTUGAL.—It will be seen by reference to Special Notice column, that Thos. J. Stewart, Esq., of this city, has been appointed Vice Consul of the kingdom of Portugal, and has taken Office No. 1, Mercantile Square. Mr. Stewart is the first resident representative of any foreign government ever appointed in this city and it is expected that his office will be open today, between the hours of 11 and 1 o'clock, to receive the friends of that distinguished government. We think highly of the King of Portugal, and shall undoubtedly be there about this time.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE. J. B. Foster, sold at auction on Saturday, the Trask House on Blackstone Street, to James M. Dickey for $1045.—The Knights House, also on Blackstone Street, to Wm. Yeaton, for $710, and a small house on a lane leading from Centre Street, to S. S. Low for $161.

☞ The overhaulers of lumber here want 17 cents a thousand instead of 14—and are on a strike.

☞ The Penobscot County Conference of Congregational Churches will hold its annual meeting with the church, in Orono, next Tuesday and Wednesday, June 9th and 10th. The opening sermon will be preached Tuesday forenoon at 10½ o'clock by Prof. S. Harris of this city.

☞ The Universalists at Mechanic Falls are building a new church—also, those of Hanover and Rumford, at Rumford Point.

☞ A Portland lady has a project, which is certainly a liberal one, for the erection of an orphan home in this State, to which she proposes to contribute liberally herself.

☞ The 10th Regiment bounty question is just decided. All enlisted men mustered out with the regiment will receive $100 bounty.

☞ Sixty thousand dollars stock has been subscribed toward a Horse Railroad in Portland and to Westbrook. The work thereon will commence immediately.

☞ A shrewd keeper of a restaurant in Gardiner hires the Band to play before his establishment, every Thursday evening.

☞ The Calais Herald says, that during the past six months a larger business was done at the Pembroke Iron Works than for any previous half year since the establishment was in operation. They have at present 325 men employed, and the works are kept going during night and day. Two new engines of 150 horse power each are soon to be added.

☞ A young lady in Lancashire being asked how she could possibly afford, in hard times, to take music lessons, replied—"Oh, I confine myself to the low notes."

An amusing thing occurred in the 24th Ohio. A few days since, a soldier, in passing to the lower part of the encampment, saw two others from his company making a rude coffin. He inquired who it was for.

'John Myers,' said the other.

'Why,' replied he, 'John is not dead yet.—It is too bad to make a man's coffin when you don't know if he is going to die or not.'

'Don't trouble yourself,' replied the others, 'Dr. Coe told us to make his coffin, and I guess he knows what he goes for.'

☞ The article for publishing which the Chicago Times was suppressed, is directed almost wholly at President Lincoln, and the President himself revoked the order of suppression. And this is the man who, according to the democratic papers, wants to make himself Military Dictator.

The St. Stephen Bank issues bills payable in New York, upon which, of course, specie cannot be demanded. Some of our people got slightly sold in the purchase of this class of paper. Supposing them to be genuine bills, payable in specie, they were bought at 30 per cent premium.—Eastport Sentinel.

The Messrs. Toothaker, whose father was the pioneer settler of Phillips, in the "Rangely Settlement," have thirty acres of pine logs afloat, which are coming down the Androscoggin, and will make 5,000,000 feet of lumber when out.—Bath Times.

☞ The Franklin Patriot says that Marshman Hall, son of William Hall, of East Dixfield, was killed on Tuesday last by an accidental discharge of a gun he was taking down from the hook on which it had been hanging.

SOMERSET & KENNEBEC RAILROAD.—The annual meeting was held in Augusta on Wednesday last. The gross earnings of the road for the past year have been $86,793,85. Running expenses, $32,605,04. Net earnings of the road, $58,288,81. Paid interest on coupons, $36,109,67. Balance in Treasury, $17,179,14.—Amount due for mail transportation, $8,843,14. Interest due on 1st, and 2d Mortgage Bonds, $136,487,09. There has been 19777, 67-100 tons of freight transported over the road, and 88,988 passengers, being an increase of some 8000 tons of freight, and about 1500 passengers over the previous year.

FROM THE MAINE FIFTEENTH.—A letter in the Press, dated New Orleans, May 16, says:

The health and general discipline of the 15th Maine never was better than at present. While they would gladly visit their homes, they desire to crush out as far as they may this cursed rebellion. We had a hard name when we left the State, but let me assure our personal friends that though we have never yet, as a regiment, been under fire, we have lost no opportunity of endeavoring in every way to do our whole duty and have ever been mindful of that State whose banner we proudly carry. Col. Dyer is universally liked as a brigade commander, and while we should be sorry to lose him, he would honor his native State as a Brigadier General.

A PRIMITIVE CITY.—The Hartford Post says, that hereafter everybody in New Haven is going to bed at sundown. The dry goods dealers combined in an agreement to shut up shop at eight o'clock in the evening, and now the butchers and grocers, and so forth, are going at it. The populace will retire at 8 o'clock, but the watchmen will set up till 9.

☞ The number of commissions issued from the Adjutant General's office, to officers of Maine Regiments, since the commencement of the rebellion, is 2887.

☞ A letter from Brashear City, says that the value of the cotton secured by Gen. Banks will cover the whole expense of this campaign.

☞ Bankruptcy is making sad inroads into the financial affairs of English merchants who have invested in the blockade running business.

☞ The famous horse, Ethan Allen has been sold to Frank Baker of San Francisco, for $16,000.

☞ From the Gas Light Journal of June 1st, we find that there are in the United States four hundred and thirty-three gas companies, whose aggregate capital exceeds sixty millions of dollars.

A correspondent denies the statement that Col. Dyer, of the 15th Maine, commanding at Pensacola, was at all responsible for the burning of that place. Some of the citizens got the soldiers drunk, and they are as much responsible who furnished the liquor as anybody.

The Lewiston Falls Manufacturing Company have worked up during the past year about 190,000 lbs. of wool. They have made 18,000 yards of fine indigo Blue Blouse Flannels, also 74,597 yards of sky blue Kerseys, as the Journal says.

New York, 7th

The Herald's Washington despatch, dated the 6th says the second division of the 6th army corps crossed the Rappahannock at Deep Run at noon yesterday on a pontoon bridge laid by a detachment of an engineer corps. The object was a reconnoissance in force to ascertain the motives and position of the enemy

The rebel sharpshooters made some opposition to the laying of the pontoon bridges but this was quickly overcome, although we lost one or two men in the operation After the division crossed there was considerable skirmishing, and the rifle pits occupied by the rebel riflemen were finally carried, and some 30 or 40 prisoners captured Among the killed was Captain Cross of the 50th New York

The rebels still hold Fredericksburg Gen Lee is there and shows a strong front at the upper fords of the Rappahannock It is believed a large part of the rebel force have gone in the direction of Gordonsville but with what intention can only be surmised Our army is in good spirits and ready to move forward at an hour's notice

Washington, 6th

Whatever may have been the condition of affairs on either side of the Rappahannock for the last two days, it is known that army tonight is on this side of the river There is no truth in the statement of the evacuation of Fredericksburg by General Lee and the occupation of the place by our forces.

Our lines have been drawn also that in many places the armies are within speaking distance

The statement which recently appeared in the papers, charging the Mormons with assisting the Indians in a fight with the California Volunteers is contradicted by a prominent Mormon now here, who says he is cognizant of the facts The article to which exception is taken was based upon respectable authority, including Col Connor's official report.

The following was received at the headquarters of the army today

Headquarters 18th Army Corps, } Newbern, N C, June 3d. }

To Major General Halleck, Commander in Chief, U S Army, Washington

General—Referring to my brief report of May 22d, I have the honor to report that, learning from Col J Richter Jones commanding the outposts, that he deemed it possible to capture the enemy's outposts laying at Gum Swamp, eight miles from Kinston, I ordered Colonel Lee's brigade, consisting of the 5th 25th, 46th and 46th Massachusetts regiments, three pieces of Bogg's battery and a battalion of cavalry, to report to him

Colonel Jones ordered the 5th, 25th and 46th, with the artillery and cavalry, under command of Col Pierson of the 5th Massachusetts, to advance up the railroad and Dover turnpike, to attack the enemy's works in front, while the 58th Pennsylvania and 27th Massachusetts, under the immediate command of Col Jones, took a path through the swamp to reach the rear of the enemy's position

The main column, under Col Pierson, met the enemy's pickets at daylight of the 22d, and driving them in, commenced an attack on the front

Col Jones, with his command, owing to the character of the road they had taken, and the men having to go by single file, did not arrive at desired place until 9 a m

On arriving in the rear of the enemy's position, Col Jones deployed such batteries of his command as could be used to at vantage opened fire and advanced.

The enemy fired a few desultory volleys, then broke and fled in great confusion, taking the swamps and escaping by paths known only to them

On hearing the firing of Col Jones's command, Col Pierson advanced his command and entered the works in front.

After securing prisoners, 165 in number and spoils, demolishing the enemy's works and resting his men, Col Jones made a demonstration and show of advance on Kinston at, back the same evening His pickets were driven in and he found himself attacked by the enemy in force, and with artillery he in obedience to orders at once returned, followed by the enemy, and reached our outposts without loss.

Col Lee's brigade were put in the cars in waiting and returned to their camp

The enemy mortified at the success of Col Jones, and being strongly reinforced at Goldsboro, reattacked our outposts line on the afternoon of the 23d I sent out a supporting force to Col Jones and the enemy were repulsed at every point, but with great loss to the United States and the service in the death of Colonel Jones, who was shot through the heart as he was leading on two companies of his regiment, to dislodge the enemy from a position he had taken up

By the death of Colonel Jones, a most brave, zealous, and able officer has been lost to the service and this department.

I have the honor to to enclose the list of casualties and also the list of prisoners and articles captured.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

(Signed) J. C. FOSTER,
Major General Commanding.

The following is the list of prisoners, &c., captured in the late expedition to Gum Swamp, Col J Richter Jones commanding

One hundred and sixty-five prisoners, 28 horses, 3 ambulances, 2 baggage wagons, 1 twelve-pounder howitzer, 80 muskets and 11,000 rounds of ammunition.

Casualties—2 killed, 5 wounded, 1 missing.

New York, 7th

Steamship Hammonia, from Southampton on the morning of the 25th, has arrived. Been anticipated

New York, 7th

The Times' special despatch, from the head quarters of Army of Potomac, dated the 6th says

From prisoners taken last evening, I have obtained copies of the Richmond Whig and Despatch of the 5th. I send you the following, which is the chief item of interest:

Jackson, Miss, June 2

The result of the siege of Vicksburg thus far is very favorable and encouraging to our side The enemy have been repulsed in every attempt to storm the works

General Grant must be compelled to raise the siege in a few days. The storming of the works is looked for within the next 48 hours.

Fortress Monroe, 6th

The following are extracts from the Richmond Dispatch of this morning

Jackson, Miss, 3d. All is quiet at Vicksburg, Yesterday no firing was heard General Grant is evidently making preparations for a move in some directions!

Jackson, 3d

A Courier reports that General Kirby Smith crossed to Port Hudson The gunboat made a furious assault, sinking one steamer and drowning 700 men No doubts are felt in regard to the assault.

Interesting details of the fight at Vicksburg on Tuesday are coming in

General Grant used cotton bales for moveable breastworks in the attack

General [illegible] mounted his 200-pounders and directed their fire at the cotton bales, mowing down whole platoons of the enemy

Our entire loss including the action of Bakers Creek, does not exceed 5000

Confidence in Pemberton since his answer to Grant's demand for surrender, has been fully restored

No fears are felt regarding the result either at Vicksburg or Port Hudson

Jackson, 4th, p m

Heavy firing in the direction of Vicksburg has been heard all day Nothing reliable has been received from there since Sunday

The weather is cloudy, and raining slightly

Charleston, 4th

Official despatches from Gen W S Walker at Pocotaligo, reports that the enemy fired the town of Bluffton to day Our forces engaged them, and prevented further advance

A later despatch from Lieut Col Johnston to General Walker, says We are now in Bluffton which is in flames. The enemy have retired —No one on our side was hurt.

In the raid on the Combahee, the enemy carried away about 1000 negroes and destroyed nearly $1 000 000 worth of property.

Mobile, 4th

The corn crop in Alabama and Western Georgia is in a flourishing condition, and promises an abundant yield The late rains were very beneficial

Refugees at Pascagoula report another brilliant victory over the Yankees at Port Hudson

An editorial in the Vicksburg Whig, says — "News from the Southwest continues of the most cheering character Vicksburg has Pemberton vindicated the confidence placed in him by President Davis From all accounts the defence of Vicksburg is the most glorious episode in the already crowded annals of military history The hecatombs of the Yankees attest the valor of our troops, and the skill and success with which they have been handled In every attack the heroic garrison has immortalized itself. The Yankees have given up the attempt to take the city by storm, and now talk of siege, a plan which General Johnston may interfere with

The telegraph also brings reports of a brilliant victory gained by General Kirby Smith over General Banks at Port Hudson We have every reason to believe this news will be confirmed.

With Grant's army nearly annihilated by the terrific execution of our artillery and musketry at Vicksburg, and the strategic movements of General Banks suddenly cut short at Port Hudson the great campaign of the West, from which so much was expected, by the enemy; bids fair to prove by far the most disastrous and gigantic of all their failures in this war

Washington, 6th

Telegraphs were received tonight from Richmond papers of today Those who read them say the rebels are exulting in what they allege to be great losses on part of Grant's Army

The papers for several days past have been continually increasing the number, entirely depending upon fancy rather than facts.

The Richmond Enquirer says information has been received through a courier that Kirby Smith has crossed the Mississippi with reinforcements and joined his friends and Port Hudson, but that while his forces were passing over our gunboats sunk one of their steamboats, thus causing a loss of the rebels of 700 men

But little reliance are placed in the reports, for the reason that it is not believed the enemy has any steamboats on the Mississippi and if this were so our gunboats would not permit them to land troops

Cincinnati, 7th

Indiana and Michigan have been formed into a military district. General Wilcox is to command

A locomotive exploded at Nicholasville, Ky, yesterday, killing five soldiers, and wounding twelve

New York, 7th

A New Orleans letter in the Times gives the name of Colonel Bullock, 30th Massachusetts, as killed at Port Hudson

Nashville, Tenn, 6th

The fight at Franklin on the 4th was between four brigades of rebels under Forest, and our forces there, who held the rebels at bay until the removal of the Federal stores, when our reinforcements came up and drove the rebels beyond the town. On the morning of the 5th the rebels were reported to have re-entered the town after severe fighting in the streets Col Franklin of the 6th Kentucky cavalry, again drove them some miles beyond the town, taking 50 prisoners. Col. Franklin was badly wounded, and arrived here last night Col Wyckliffe Cooper of the 4th Kentucky cavalry was injured by a horse falling on him.

All quiet at Franklin

Murfreesboro, 7th,

Colonel Wilder, of the mounted infantry, has returned from another successful expedition to Liberty He broke up a band of guerillas, taking all their horses and 52 prisoners

Deserters represent that the Mississippi troops in Bragg's army are in a state of mutiny The 31st Col Tucker, has been under a heavy guard for several days

Portions of Breckinridge's and McCown's divisions, which were reported to have gone to Mississippi are still in our front

Heavy firing has been heard in the direction of Triune, which is as yet unexplained.

New York, 6th

The new steamship America, from Bremen via Southampton 27th, has arrived

Reports of the probable armistice and of the prospects of European offers of mediation between the North and South are again revived in London.

Army Correspondence of Whig & Courier

From the Eleventh Maine.

Beaufort, S C, May 27th

Mr Editor—

It is now more than four months since I have trespassed upon the time of your readers, and perhaps they will be willing to read a hasty sketch of the wanderings of the 11th Maine during that time When I last wrote, our regiment and the 104th Pennsylvania were on board the steamship Cahawba, in Hampton Roads. The next day we sailed with sealed orders, and after a somewhat stormy passage, at the time when the old or first Monitor was lost, we arrived safely at Morehead City, N C, on the 1st of January, 1863 This city contains about twenty houses, and is the terminus of the railroad which extends to Raleigh, through Newbern and Goldsborough It is situated on a narrow, barren neck of land. That night we disembarked and marched out three miles up the railroad track, to a place called Carolina City—a city containing three houses and a warehouse There, with some eight or ten other regiments, we went into camp on the shore of Bogue Sound. The place was very well suited for an encampment, being dry and furnishing an abundance of good water—essential requisites for a good camp. Here, much of the time was spent in company and battalion drill.

At the end of three weeks we again embarked on the same ship, with the 104th Pennsylvania, and after lying in the harbor nine days, again went to sea, in company with other transports, with sealed orders, and on the last day of January entered Port Royal harbor, S C. Though very much crowded, there being about 1200 souls on board, it was not till the 10th of February, after we had been on board twenty one days, that we landed on S Helena Island, six miles above Hilton Head. Here we again had a very pleasant camping ground, with plenty of quite good water by digging six or seven feet Nineteen other regiments were encamped on the island with us.

St. Helena Island, I have been informed, is about ten or twelve miles in extent each way, and is considered one of the most beautiful and fertile islands on the coast of South Carolina Here our soldiers were not idle—for besides the labor of making their camps comfortable, our men spent a considerable part of their time in company, battalion and brigade drill and general review.

The general health of the regiment had been improving all the time since we left Yorktown, till the day before we landed when the ship fever broke out among our men, and carried off six of our number in one week This sickness was no doubt caused by our very crowded state for so long time on the transport, and had we remained on board a few days longer, it probably would have proved fatal to our regiment

While on this island the regiment received a very beautiful flag made in Boston and purchased by the officers It has on it the inscriptions designated by special order of General Naglee On the morning of our last general review it was presented to the regiment The presentation was, perhaps, somewhat novel, but very impressive Colonel Plaisted had the regiment formed into a hollow square with all the officers within The flag was then brought in by the Adjutant, and Colonel P made a short appropriate and patriotic speech, after which he requested the whole regiment to kneel, which was promptly complied with by all officers and privates, and prayer was offered And then and there, with heads uncovered, in the language of David, we said—"In the name of the Lord our God we will lift up our Banner The effect was good It was remarked immediately after the presentation, by some, "We will never give up that flag"

And here I wish to give you a paragraph or two from Colonel P's remarks After speaking of the flag the Stars and Stripes, as the symbol of our National Government—standing for the Government of our fathers—the best Government ever instituted by man, and representing all we hold dear—all that was good in government or valuable in human institutions, he remarked—

But this flag to you, fellow soldiers, is even more than the Stars and Stripes It is our old banner, torn and blackened by the conflicts of battle, returned to you in this new and beautiful form, as the grain of corn falling into the ground, dying and reappearing in its new glory You see in it the old standard you bore thro' so many trying circumstances. It calls to mind the scenes of camp the march the battlefield, scenes of hardship, of death by battle and disease Oh! how many lives—precious lives—how many tears of wives and mothers fathers and children has it cost to place upon our banner these inscriptions!

Of your history, fellow soldiers, it may say, as was said of Massachusetts—the past, at least, is secure There it is—behold it! (Unfurling the flag) "Lee's Mills," "Williamsburg," "Chickahominy," "Seven Pines or Fair Oaks, "Railroad Bridge," White Oak Swamp"—and there they will remain forever Let us now add but Charleston That may be too much but, God helping us, we will win Charleston for our Banner

Now, as we are about to go forth to risk our lives in the support of our standard, it is fitting that we should ask the protection of Heaven Let us bow down before this sign—this cross of our glorious cause and country, and while we ask the blessing of the God of Battles upon it and ourselves we will in our minds firmly resolve that so long as one of us shall live, no traitor hand shall touch it

A few days before leaving St Helena, our regiment received our months pay and the next day collected and sent home to Maine, thirty thousand three hundred dollars, from a regiment of a little over five hundred

After staying on this island about seven weeks, we embarked again, on the 4th of April, on the Cahawba, with the 104th Pennsylvania, to form a part of the Charleston expedition and on the afternoon of the 5th, entered North Edisto Inlet or harbor Here we remained five days without landing, and then returned to this place where we landed on Saturday, the 11th

Beaufort is the most pleasant and beautiful place we have seen in the South It has many fine and substantial dwellings, with spacious grounds filled with orange trees and oleanders which grow from ten to fifteen feet high, with many other trees and shrubs The place is well shaded with the live oak button wood, China tree, palm and a few elms Fig trees are abundant Some of the best and most pleasantly situated mansions are occupied for hospitals, and officers who have been through all the war, say they have never seen any hospitals so comfortably and neatly arranged The sick in these hospitals are as comfortable as they would be at home, except the faces and sympathies of the loved ones there We have a very pleasant and neat camp, The 11th Maine has always had the reputation of having a good camp Officers who have been in the regular army four teen years, say it is the best camp they ever saw The health of the regiment was never better Yesterday morning seven companies reported with out any sick in quarters I have never seen the men in better spirits. They feel confident that our cause our Government, will yet triumph over all its enemies

Yesterday I was present at the presentation of a beautiful flag to the 2d (colored) S C Volunteers, Colonel Montgomery commanding It was an interesting sight to see those who have been so recently slaves marching so soldierly, proudly bearing the symbol of the best government on earth. The flag was given by a lady in Norwich, Ct and presented by General Saxton, with a short patriotic speech, followed by a poem. After repeated and hearty cheers on the part of the regiment for the donor, General Saxton, and the Government, the exercises were close with prayer by Rev Mr Moore, Chaplain of the regiment The regiment expects to leave for Florida this week, and I think our country will hear a good account from the protectors of that flag May God's blessing go with them

Very respectfully yours,

James Wells,
Chaplain 11th Maine Volunteers.

An English Confession At the recent meeting of the British and Foreign Anti Slavery Society in London, Mr C Buxton, M P, made the following significant confession

He admitted that he was wrong in his anticipations of the result of the issuing of the proclamation of Mr Lincoln He thought it would have aroused the slaves, and he had looked with horror at the consequences of such an uprising, which must have ended in their utter extermination. However, all his apprehensions had proved to be vain. The negroes had shown that patience and wonderful forbearance of spirit which always characterized their race, and had not brought about those dreadful calamities which he had apprehended. It appeared to him that the cause of abolition was extending over the continent of America, and that although the negroes had not chosen to rise against their masters, they had nevertheless shown a great abhorrence of slavery They had shown how eager they were to escape, and how ready they were to undergo the severest trials in order to make their way to where the Federal flag was waving. He believed that with the zealous cooperation of the Federal Government, and with the increasing love of freedom and abhorrence of slavery which was creeping more and more creeping over the heart and conscience of the world, they might look within a few years to see not only the abolition of Spanish slavery in Cuba, but the abolition of slavery throughout the world

POOR RICHARD'S

EYE AND EAR WATER.

This is the Best Preparation in the World!

READER, are you aware that every time you think, speak or act, you draw on your eyes for strength to do so? Now you are debtor to them, and if they have not arrested your body and shut it up in the prison of illness, remember they must as surely will if you do not satisfy their claim (which is a small one) for all the service they render to you continually. They are crying to you for help every blood streak is a voice. Hear their cry, and save yourself by saving them. Give them a drink of POOR RICHARD'S EYE WATER, Morning and Night. This is all they ask, and they will positively keep your body out of the prison house of disease. They do not want to lose time in explanations. Try them, and prove them. By faithful perseverance, Deafness can be cured and prevented—Bathe both eyes and ears.

A Remarkable Cure in Bangor.

I, W D PRITCHARD, do certify that my wife hather S, has had Weak Eyes from childhood, caused by measles. Last year since a lump appeared on the lash of her eye. It increased to the size of a large pea. Becoming somewhat alarmed about the progress it was making I took my wife to Mrs M G BROWN, at the Exchange. She told me she could remove it and further strengthen her eyes. Mrs B applied her medicine at seven o'clock in the evening, and at nine o'clock the lump was gone. We consider it a miracle. My wife can now see people walking on the other side of the street which she could not do before. She has always had headache when riding in a carriage. Yesterday, after riding in a carriage, she had no return of headache. Her own eyes were treated two or three times by Mrs Brown. I find them much strengthened. W H PRITCHARD

UNIVERSAL

COUGH REMEDY.

BASES its real claims to the confidence of the public by its perfect simplicity and freedom from every component which in any way places restraint on its use, Day or Night, by Old or Young, but to find the real secret of its true character and results, to which thousands can testify, be it being made the Pocket Remedy or Nursery Companion of all, and the enemy to all Throat and Lung complaints, by using it every hour if necessary or when there is the least tickling in the Throat or disposition to Cough. By such freedom of use it

CURES

Coughs,
Colds,
Sore Throat
Bronchial Complaints,
Hoarseness

and all such, as when neglected, end in

CONSUMPTION!

To Public Speakers and Singers it is most valuable as it goes to the foundation, clears the Throat and prevents the prostration which follows great exertion

As a Soothing Syrup its simplicity calls for special attention as the most delicate infant may take it with the greatest freedom

HUNNEWELL'S

TOLU ANODYNE.

This Preparation, by its splendid results has shown the great necessity of a true Nervous and Spasmodic Remedy which goes to its work on all such complaints, completely relieving the pains and leaving no stain of debility behind

As most complaints of this nature proceed from inward causes, they are reached only through the stomach, and in most of them, time and money is wasted by the use of Liniments and Lotions.

Let this preparation be fairly tested and it will be found worthy the name and fame of a true

ANODYNE!

IT CURES

Neuralgia,
Rheumatism,
Gout,
Tooth Ache,
Ear Ache,
Nervous Head Ache,
Distress after eating,
Fits,
Hysteria
Nervousness,
Spinal Complaint,
St Vitus Dance,
Cholera Morbus,
Pains in Stomach and Bowels

also the chief of all causes of disease and insanity

LOSS OF SLEEP!

To the Sleepless Invalid it gives the most refreshing sleep

To Females, suffering the pains of Monthly Menstruation, it completely relieves, while Nature's work is undisturbed. This is of great importance as from this scourge dates most if not all wrecks to the Nervous System, and Chronic Female Complaints

For Stomach, or Tape Worms, this is a sure remedy

For children, when Teething, it completely soothes the pain, by diluting with milk and rubbing the Gums. When very severe give it in 5 to 10 drop doses in milk, and is a perfect relief.

HUNNEWELL'S

ECLECTIC PILLS.

This Valuable and Simple PILL rests for character on being the true type of a CATHARTIC,—simple, though thorough in action seldom requiring but a SINGLE PILL for a dose or one at night and one at morning—total without the least griping.

AND CURES

Dyspepsia,
Indigestion,
Billiousness,
Loss of Appetite,
Jaundice,
Humors, &c, &c

For HEAD ACHE, when caused by a foul Stomach, they are a perfect relief.

For WORMS are a perfect remedy.

As a FAMILY PILL they have no superior
